Please explain how these funds will be used to provide a public benefit:

This area is a high-risk, low-income area with a majority of single parent apartments. This specific apartment complex (Harbison Gardens) is a hot spot for youth to fall through the cracks, specifically during after school hours. Through community partnerships, these at-risk youth are provided opportunities to stop the cycle of poor academic performance and behavioral issues. Youth will be encouraged to not participate in drug use, gangs, and crime through access to recreational sports, mentorships, tutoring assistance, empowerment programs, apprenticeship opportunities, and transportation to access these services. The Irmo area is plagued with crime, violence, and danger which impacts the community and surrounding areas. Through partnerships with the apartment complex management company, Lexington Richland School District Five, the Mungo Foundation, Irmo Chapin Recreation Commission, and apprenticeship programs such as Walker White Mechanical, this area can be turned around to benefit the community, save youth, and provide a route away from a life of destruction. To qualify for low-income housing, youth residing in the apartment complex will be required to participate in the provided services. This project is an example for other areas of the state to implement and see success across communities, in schools, and in the lives of the next generation.
